

75%

of Northern Virginia's 1.5 million workers live within a 30 minute one-way commute to the center of Prince William County during rush hour

Over one million of the national capital region's professionals reside within a 30 minute commute to Prince William County, even at peak drive times. No other area in the nation offers better access to top talent with a labor shed where:

- 43% of adults hold a 4-year degree - 20% more than the national average;
- 250% more workers per capita hold an advanced degree than the national average;
- The workforce has grown by 40% in Prince William and 25% in the region during the last decade;
- The nation's highest concentration of programming and computer science talent lives;
- More INC 500 firms are located than anywhere else in the country; and
- Educational attainment and university R&D expenditures are the highest in the nation.
